PUBLIC NOTICE

TO MEMBERS AND CREDITORS OF PSA SAVINGS AND LOANS SOCIETY LTD

THE PSA Savings & Loans Society was declared insolvent on 16th May, 1997 and I was appointed trustee of the insolvent estate on 3rd June, 1997.

In previous publicity through a series of radio and newspaper advertisements since the time of insolvency, I advised members of their need to file proofs of debt if they have a savings balance with the Society.

The National Court has now ordered that the last date for a creditor of PSA Savings and Loan Society Limited to lodge a proof of his debt in 4.00 p.m. on 20th June, 1999.

Any members who have a savings balance with the society and have not lodged affidavits for proof of debt are urged to do so immediately. Failure to lodge proofs of debts by 20th June, 1999 will result in members losing their claim to any dividends from the estate.

Those members who have already lodged a proof of debt and have received the first dividend payment need not respond to this advertisement given that their proofs of debt are registered with the Trustee.

Members who have outstanding loans to the society and are not making any repayments to the society are advised to re-commence repayments immediately. Further recovery action, which could include legal action, will result if no progress is made with member's repayment Schedule. If you are in doubt of the status of your outstanding loan, please contact the society help desk on the telephone number provided below.

Society's help desk number is 321-1911 or facsimile 321-1389.

A. W. BECK,
Trustee for the Insolvent Estate of PSA Savings & Loans Society Ltd.
